COMMODORE'S LETTER

Chris Pooley
Commodore

AS DOUGLAS ADAMS FAMOUSLY SAID:
"I LOVE DEADLINES. I LIKE THE WHOOSHING SOUND THEY MAKE AS THEY FLY BY."

And so, this month's deadline made that same attempt, saved only by Selina's prompt, which fortunately found me during a quiet spell between travels in England. An odd time of year you might think – correctly – to travel to the UK, when HK is beginning to enjoy the finest season of the year. But there is a good, exceptional, reason for this: a full capacity cruise to follow, with 52 current or ex-HK hiking and sailing pals off the West Coast of Scotland on board Lord of the Glens (www.lordoftheglens.co.uk). No, this is not an advert, just an illustration, with tales to follow at the ABC bar. And a further article, perhaps, from one of the several ABC members aboard.

Meanwhile, members are no doubt enjoying the season on Tong Po Chau following the very successful Grand Opening on 31 August, when attendance at one point threatened the regulatory limit! The main sailing season also got off to an encouraging start, with a fleet of 25 boats joining the Opening Regatta. The expectation of favourable winds with the later start date was met instead by light fickle breezes. Nonetheless, the full race schedule, while testing the patience and skill of the RO and sailors, was completed.

Looking ahead, members are invited to try the facilities at our new Reciprocal Club, the VRC – HK's oldest – and enjoy a reverse view of Deepwater Bay from their Terrace. Contact Cobo if more information is needed. Then, a chance for all parents to match their children's shrieks of joy with jumps of fright: the annual Halloween Night on 26 October, which is now almost fully booked. Further ahead, the AGM, which has enjoyed healthy attendance in recent years, falls on Tuesday 26 November. Gencom Nomination and AOB deadline dates are 29 October and 19 November, respectively.

The Waglan Series is now well underway, with Races 3&4 scheduled for 10 November, after this issue of Horizons reaches members. A much bigger event for many is the Southside Regatta, taking place over the weekend of 30 November and 1 December. Well over 100 dinghies are expected to participate, many for the first time from ABC's new fleet. As always, competition is bound to be keen. That will be followed by the popular – perhaps because it's free! – Commodore's Drinks and Buffet on TPC [MI], following Waglan 6 on 15 December. Finally, as the January issue will only just have been published by then, please pencil in ABC's 4 Peaks Race dates of 10-11 January 2020.

The 4 Peaks in its restaurant guise has been enjoying a renaissance of late, thanks to enlightened menu changes, with a further boost more recently from Friday piano recitals by David Robinson of Fragrant Harbour. If you haven't been for a while, do give yourselves a treat.

As this issue covers part of the Festive Season, there are more events to come than can be covered in this letter; so, note the details in the following pages, and watch out for many future specific reminders.

The writer, looking forward to HK's Autumn season on his return, will no doubt catch up again with many members at the Waglan Bar and on the rejuvenated Tong Po Chau.

Wishing all members fair weather in the meantime.

Sail with peace of mind.

Sunseeker Opening Regatta 2019

Words by Graeme Brechin, photos by Guy Nowell

When the sun rose over the Lamma Channel to South West Lamma it was not looking good. Brilliant sunshine, yes, but not a wisp of wind. The Observatory was looking to be correct. Maximum force three breeze later in the afternoon if we were lucky.

Alex Johnston, the RO, hoisted the AP flag; and there was muttering around the boat that if only the Regatta was held in the strong winds of the weekend before. The good news and – bravely some would say – the AP only stayed up for twenty minutes before the first Race was underway, in light conditions to say the least. The fleet of thirty-plus boats completed the two shortened courses within one to two hours. Some had a longer lunch than others, with several HKPN boats basically turning around to start again on Race 2. There was a bit more breeze for the second race, which helped, and thus a third race was squeezed in for IRC only. All IRC boats started before most HKPN had finished race 2. So, there were three races for IRC and two for HKPN. This was clever use of time and worked well with all happy under the conditions. Credit again goes to Alex and his team.

Results-wise, it was the tussle of the big boats in IRC, with Lighthouse Alpha+, Mandrake III and Quest pushing all the way. With a strong tide equally pushing their tacticians to the limit, over the "Olympic sausage course". Races 1 and 2, Lighthouse Alpha+ had her line honours pipped by Mandrake III and Quest on corrected time, before finally winning outright with line honours and corrected time on race 3. Thus clinching the overall title on Day One.

IRC 2 was dominated by three boats – Red Kite II, Wicked and Gambit all fighting it out for the Crown. Red Kite II won overall by some margin, with a win in Race 2 and second in Race 1 and 3. As ever consistently good, albeit possibly aided slightly by Gambit in Race 1 and 2, sailing with her outboard down! HKPN Division A was won by JeNa PaBe and Division B by XT.

Sunday, sadly, was much the same weather-wise: glorious sunshine but light winds mainly from the North West before moving South and dropping throughout the day. Course 16 to Cheung Chau Rock and back to South Lamma was shortened at Power Station 1, all against a strong current in which the lighter faster boats did reasonably well up to Cheung Chau; however the heavier boats at times struggled to achieve any form of forward momentum. At the end of the day only, two retired so under the light, difficult conditions there was another success for the ABC Regatta Team.

IRC 1 line honours went to Lighthouse Alpha+, which was beaten on corrected time by Mandrake III. However, Lighthouse Alpha+ won the overall Regatta by the slimmest of margins over Mandrake III. IRC 2 overall was won by Red Kite II, HKPN A overall by JeNa PaBe and HKPN B by XT.

REGATTA NEWS

In summary, overall congratulations to the ABC Race Committee alongside RO Alex Johnston, Jennifer Li and their team. A faultless event under difficult conditions, all wrapped up over a sumptuous curry buffet washed down with cold beers, complements of ABC and her sponsors. This of course all in the magnificent surroundings of ABC's new refurbished Tong Ping Chau (Middle Island) Clubhouse. Roll on the Waglan Series!

Shifty winds among the challenges of international competitions

In summer 2019, six sailors from the Aberdeen Boat Club's Racing Academy competed at major international events in Poland and Italy. Support for the Youth Worlds came from the Hong Kong Sailing Federation and Hong Kong Sports Institute, while participation in the 29er World Championships was a combined effort from the Federation, Institute and the Clubs. The ABC also supported the European Championships with equipment and coaching support. Such events provide the sailors with valuable experience which can't be replicated here in Hong Kong, and comprise an important stage in their sail racing pathway. They are not only important for these sailors, but also provide inspiration to others. In the sailors' own words, here are stories from the events....

MALO KENNISH AND ANATOLE MARTIN

Youth Worlds -

29er World Championships – 14th in Silver, 59th out of 175 boats

European Championships - 15th out of 210 boats

This summer, Malo and I have competed in the 29er World and European championships thanks to our dear racing club, who have followed us since our first steps in Optimist several years ago: the ABC.

I would like to thank ABC for everything they did this summer, to enable racing in the best possible conditions. ABC supplied the best equipment they had by container: boats, masts, sails, foils, ribs, spares ... which arrived in time and in perfect shape, as every past summer. We couldn't ask for more.

The European championships was an important regatta for us, knowing it was our last one together on a 29er. Things might have not gone the way we wanted in the end, but it was still one of the best regattas I have ever competed in, and one of many which I will never stop thinking of. We qualified in the gold fleet in 20th position, then became 4th overall, at the end of the first day of finals, then 9th at the end of the second day, but on the last day, unfortunately our spinnaker halyard broke at the 2nd top mark of the first race. Being forced to retire for the day, knowing we couldn't repair the issue on the windy race course of the Garda Lake, we ended up 15th overall out of 210 boats. A frustrating result, knowing our personal best was 15th in France two years ago.

This regatta proved once again that we still have a lot to learn, and we are more than eager to pursue our sailing dreams.

To complete this short text, I would to sincerely thank our coach Szymon for his remarkable coaching and all his efforts that were put into this regatta, including driving the boats from Gdynia to Garda and back.

KARRIE CLARK AND PENELOPE MARTIN

Youth Worlds -

29er World Championships – 2nd U17 Girls and 3rd in Bronze Fleet, 93rd out of 175 boats

European Championships -

This year, Karrie and I went to Europe for several events: the Youth Worlds (supported by HKSI), the World Championship and the European Championship.

The two first events were held in Poland, where we stayed for almost one month. Thanks to Szymon, our ABC coach, we could practice a few Polish words with the people!

The winds in Poland were pretty unstable, very shifty, but we managed to keep the boat up. Szymon gave us lots of tips about winds and currents.

On the last day of the Worlds, before the racing, we were pretty anxious because we knew that we could have a good position, but could not guess the exact ranking. At the end of this day, Szymon came to us and told us we were 3rd in the Bronze Fleet and 2nd in the Under 17 girls overall. That made our day!

The Europeans were held in Italy, at lake Garda. The scenery was just amazingly beautiful ... and the Italian food was so good. Wind was constantly strong, so it was not really in our favour because we are too light to keep up. But we still could get into the Bronze Fleet. We will never forget this event.

We truly thank the ABC Club for all the support, the equipment, the transportation of boats, and a big big thank you to Szymon who dedicated all his time for us, travelling back to Poland with the boats to put them in a container ... for their journey back to Hong Kong.

Penelope

This summer Penelope, and I competed at both the 29er Europeans and World Championships; and we would not have been able to achieve 2nd U17 female world champions without the support of Aberdeen Boat Club supplying us with boats to do so. We would also like to thank Szymon for the support and coaching in both events; we learnt lots and it was a great experience.

Karrie

ARA SUMMER REPORT

CASEY LAW AND AUGUSTIN CLOT

29er World Championships – 41st in Bronze fleet, 131 out of 175 boats

Augustin: This summer, Casey and I had the chance to travel to Poland in order to compete in our first major overseas event since we formed a team. We had an incredible experience, both on and off the water, during our two-week stay in Gdynia. We stayed in the Mercure hotel which was only five minutes away from the event area, which was very convenient for us, because it meant that we could always go to and from the area. Joining us were fellow Hong Kong sailors Malo/Anatole, Karrie/Penelope, Pei/Pasu, as well as Ulysse/Madellena and Adam/Matheo from the RHKYC.

Casey: Before I went to Poland, I had participated in an exhausting Optimist World Championships in Antigua. Fortunately, I had a nice weeklong vacation in England to recuperate. The regatta was two weeks long, so we were eager to start training once we got to Poland; however, the boats were stuck at customs and we were unable to get them until three days before the racing started!

Conditions in the Baltic Sea were unique, with a huge load of small waves (chop) and a very light breeze; we were definitely unprepared for the regatta. Hong Kong's water is very flat compared to Gdynia's, so we ended up nosediving a lot on the upwind. On the first few days, there was not much wind so we didn't do as well as the others. On the 3rd day, we surprised everyone with a 9th and a 10th. This put us into the Bronze fleet with Karrie and Pei's boat.

Augustin: After qualifying into the Bronze fleet thanks to our great results from the third day of qualifying, Casey and I were very optimistic about our chances for the final series. Unfortunately, there wasn't enough wind for the race committee to hold races during the first day of the final series, so we ended up waiting on the shore for quite a bit of time before it was confirmed that we wouldn't be racing that day.

This was obviously a bit disappointing for us, since we wanted to keep the momentum we had from the third day, but nevertheless we still kept a positive attitude. However, the second day of finals came as a big blow to our hopes of getting a good result in bronze fleet. The wind picked up around midday and kept on increasing throughout the day, and Casey and I were faced with a physical as well as mental challenge. We ended up completely cracking, with multiple capsizes throughout the day, and finishing with poor results for the day. But oh well, that's part of the learning, isn't it?

Casey: On the last day of racing, nothing much happened, since there was no wind. We only managed to do two races and came dead last in both, although we tried our best in the 1-2 knot winds. In contrast, in the 2nd race, Karrie and Penelope achieved a bullet, and ended the regatta in a positive rank: 3rd in the Bronze fleet and 2nd U17 Girls Overall. Whereas we ended up almost last in the Bronze fleet. This was our first World Championship together, so I didn't expect any good results from it. Next year, we will strive for our best and achieve better results ... I hope.

Augustin: We both learned a lot throughout the 29er worlds this year, and although the results weren't great, we came away with much more confidence in the boat and as a team, and hope we can build on the positives that we were able to achieve, and come back stronger in future. We would like to thank ABC for their support, along with our coach Szymon for taking care of us and pushing us during the two weeks. Finally, we would like to thank our parents, because without them this whole trip wouldn't have been possible.

MI SPORTS AND RECREATION UPDATE

Scouts Watersports Day

On 30 September, we were pleased to welcome scouts taking part in the 28th West Island School Scouts Group Watersports Fun Day to Middle Island. During the day, they were able to try Sailing, Kayaking and Standup Paddleboarding, as well as enjoy lunch and some of the games onshore. Our thanks to James Ross for organising the scouts to attend, and we look forward to seeing them again next year. If you are interested in organising a Fun Watersports day, please contact us for more details.

Stay warm on the water this winter

The winter is when we see the best breezes for sailing in Hong Kong, thanks to the Northeast Monsoon; but it does come with a temperature drop, and it's important that all sailors, particularly dinghy sailors, have the correct clothing. With the temperatures in the teens and the sun out you will probably feel warm onshore; but once you are out sailing the combination of wind and water will make you feel colder very quickly.

Layering is the best way to stay warm. Wetsuits are great, and there are options for long and short sleeves and legs, but another windproof layer on top provides extra warmth. This is particularly important before you are in the water, since the wetsuit really works by trapping a layer of water between the suit and your skin, which then warms up thanks to your body heat.

A warm hat will go a long way to keeping the rest of your body warm, since a significant amount of heat is lost out the top of your head. Put a lid on it to keep it warm!

People often complain of cold hands and feet. It is possible to buy winter sailing gloves; but an alternative on those days when the temperatures reach single digits is to wear a thin cotton glove, followed by a rubber waterproof glove (medical type gloves are good as they close on the wrist as well) and then a normal sailing glove on top. If you are prone to cold feet, a wetsuit sock is a good way to add warmth to a normal dinghy sailing boot.

In Europe, most dinghy sailors who sail through the winter will invest in a dry suit – which is completely waterproof with seals on the wrists and neck; and often with full waterproof socks. These are incredibly effective, and the good ones are also breathable, but in Hong Kong you probably wouldn't get more than a few days a year use of them.

Where can you purchase all this gear? Use your favorite internet search engine and type in 'buy sailing clothing Hong Kong', and on the first page you will see several options for high quality gear. If you would like more advice, do not hesitate to contact us in the ABC Sailing Office.

Sailing Courses

YOUTH

We were pleased to see so many sailors joining us over the October half term holiday courses, and we are now looking ahead to the Christmas Programme. We have two weeks of courses on offer. Check the following page for the full course schedule.

Week 1 16–20 December

Week 2 30 December to 3 January

As ever, if the scheduled courses don't work out for you and you have a group of 4 to 6 people of the same standard, then contact us to see if we can offer additional courses. Email sailingsecretary@abclubhk.com.

ADULT

If you haven't yet tried the new RS Quest dinghies, you can sign up for the two-day RS Quest Introduction course. We also have a number of one day courses, which are perfect for those who have completed their Beginners course and looking to practice their skills, or for those who have not sailed for a few (or many) years and are looking to get back into dinghy sailing.

Wellness

Escape the city and join Dr Michelle Lee, our Wellness trainer, at Middle Island for regular stretching sessions on Tuesdays and Fridays. For more details on the programme, you can visit the webpage: www.abcmiddleisland.com/wellness.

Aberdeen Racing Academy

The racing season is now underway, and in October 15 Academy sailors took part in the Hong Kong Optimist Dinghy Association Annual Championships at Middle Island. This year, many of the team joined the main fleet after several events in the green fleet. This was a step up for these sailors and a great taste of competitive fleet racing. Check out the ARA website for more news and reports.

Exploring Micronesia on Soko

By Ian Skeggs

As do many trips, ours started in the Bar when Richard Winter mentioned he was going sailing in Micronesia.

Richard previously had sailed his yacht Soko, a Moody 46, from Hong Kong to the Philippines, and then on to Palau in Micronesia, where he left the boat at Sam's Dive Centre. So the trip was planned. The crew consisted of Alan Child, Graeme Brechin, Peter Duggan, Paul Brown, Richard Winter and me.

On 19 February 2019, we flew from Hong Kong to Koror in Palau, and set about checking the boat, making repairs and arranging the provisioning for our adventure. After sorting everything, we went on a shakedown cruise on the 24th around some of the stunning islands of Palau. We anchored in a beautiful bay, almost entirely surrounded by rock, and swam through a tunnel in the rock, with small sharks.

We were due to leave the next day for Yap but, as there was an early typhoon about to hit Yap, we had to stay another couple of days, and explored Palau further. Palau is a famous diving centre.

At last we set sail. It was a 300-mile sail, with bumpy seas and unsettled weather following the typhoon. We eventually sighted land at 05.00 hours on Thursday 28 February.

Yap is a beautiful island and is interesting because of the stone money. These rock coins, or Rai, are enormous and were used as money. Rai stones were quarried on several of the Micronesian islands, and transported to Yap. They have been used in trade by the Yapese as a form of currency, for thousands of years.

The monetary system of Yap relies on an oral history of ownership. Because these stones are too large to move, buying an item with one simply involves agreeing that the ownership has changed. As long as the transaction is recorded in the oral history, it will now be owned by the person to whom it is passed, and no physical movement of the stone is required.

We found some lovely walks on the island, and came across several relics from the Second World War on the Tamiljog Trail. We went by boat through the mangroves to the Manta cleaning station, where the rays come into to be cleaned by small fish inside the reef, and then went swimming with sharks outside the reef. We were also lucky enough to arrive in time for the Yap Festival, their National Day. Dancing, traditional competitions, colourful outfits and general fun!

After re-provisioning, we set sail for Sorrel – an uninhabited atoll of stunning beauty. We anchored inside the lagoon in crystal clear water. Going ashore, we met a giant monitor lizard as we walked along the white sand and swam in the sea. Overnight the wind came up, and in the morning we found ourselves across the lagoon and nearly on the reef on the other side. Fortunately the anchor caught again as the reef came up.

From Sorrel we set sail for Woleai. This island is inhabited by about 500 people, and has no regular communication with the other islands. Only a few sail boats come here. The Chief keeps a book and asks visiting skippers to fill in a page. Looking through it, there was an entry from Ute and Miami Vice (Jeorg Weiss) a well know watch purveyor from Hong Kong. The island does not use money, and the islanders share the work of fishing and very limited agriculture.

On our first evening, we were invited to the Chief's circle with about eight islanders who meet every night at sundown. Here, we exchanged tales of sailing and shared our beverages. We shared our rum with them, and they shared their fermented palm juice. I think they had the better deal. The ladies, always topless, were not allowed near, and had to stay in the ladies' hut.

Over the next few days, we explored the island. One day, we were invited to the school, where they entertained us and fed us royally. The school was based in old buildings left over from the Japanese occupation. The islanders were all evacuated to Yap, and the island was just an airfield. The Japanese bulldozed the whole island during the war, and consequently 12,000 starved at the end – as once the Japanese on the island surrendered, the Allies departed and left them to their own resources.

MEMBERS' ADVENTURES

Nowadays, everything on the island is so relaxed. The Chief, who is totally blind, arranged for us to go sailing on one of their boats. Although blind he is still an expert navigator, being able to do so from the wind, the feel of the water and the smells of the sea. These boats sail for hundreds of miles across the Pacific. Tacking is interesting, as they come up into the wind, then un-step the mast and take it to the other end of the boat, and then sail off in the opposite direction.

We invited the islanders onto Soko, and they were particularly fascinated by the electronics.

It was time for us to set sail again, and on departure we were given gifts of fish and bananas. We were hoping to visit Lamotrek and Ngulu on the way back to Palau but, as we were delayed by the typhoon, we had to sail directly back to Palau. The return was a five-day trip with unsettled seas and strong winds. Altogether, a 1,500 mile trip. A once in a lifetime experience!

Richard subsequently sailed Soko to Helens Reef and West Papua, where she is now stationed pending exploration of the Spice Islands.

Highland Bothy on a Hong Kong Island

Tong Po Chau transformed into venue for intrepid explorers of the delights and histories of Scottish whiskies

By John Binks

On 9 September, the ABC Middle Island Clubhouse was the venue for the Johnnie Walker Blue Label Bothy. This was the first opportunity to showcase the newly refurbished facilities after the damage caused by Typhoon Manghut. And it didn't disappoint!

The clubhouse was transformed by the Johnnie Walker team into a highland "Bothy" – a traditional place of hospitality where strangers are welcome and drink is taken.

Upon arrival at Tong Po Chau – aka Middle Island, we were treated to an old-fashioned cocktail or two, (or three in some cases) together with some perfectly matched canapés, before sitting down to dinner.

We were privileged to be joined by Charles MacLean for the evening. Charles is by most peoples' reckoning the foremost expert on Scotch whisky – having written, lectured and researched the subject during a career spanning almost forty years.

ABC EVENTS ASHORE

The idea was that we were to be encouraged to appreciate the whisky blender's art, by drinking the Johnnie Walker signature Blue Label alongside some of the single malts whose characteristics can be detected within the blend. The malts were drawn from distilleries in four regions: The Highlands; The Lowlands; Speyside; and The Islands.

Food and Beverage Manager Robin Sherchan, together with chefs Jeff Cheung and Aurelian Lagrange, created an exceptional menu to be paired with the whiskies. Aurelian's roasted beetroot with smoked eel and goat cheese mousse and Jeff's Iberico Pork neck were particularly special.

One on one with Charles and ABC members

Charles introduced each whisky in turn, encouraging us to take time to notice the essential aromas and flavours of each. By the end of the evening, nobody seemed terribly keen to leave. They were encouraged, no doubt, by ample quantities of Johnnie Walker Blue Label Ghost and Rare Port Ellen blends; Teaninich 17 year old, Mortlach 20 year old and Talisker 25 year old single malts; and the “not for sale” 40 year old Cambus Single Grain.

Thanks are due to the Johnnie Walker team for their work in creating the evening, to Charles Maclean for his enthusiasm and knowledge, and the ABC Middle Island and Main Clubhouse staff and the catering team for putting together a superb evening.

The Middle Island Clubhouse is an exceptional venue for occasions such as this – use it, book it and appreciate it; we are very lucky to have it.

These events are by invitation only and on a first come first served basis. Please email Robin at fnb@abclubhk.com to be included in the VIP invite list for these exclusive events in the future!

MEET OUR STAFF

Just Ask Amy

Meet Club Assistant Amy Yeung

By Martin Williams

If you've phoned or walked into the Club reception with a question recently, chances are you've spoken with Amy Yeung, who joined in early July as Club Assistant. Amy has a wealth of experience as a receptionist, and a background in the travel industry.

On leaving high school over 15 years ago, Amy was very interested in travel, and studied for a diploma in food and beverage with the Hong Kong Travel and Tourism Training. After graduating, she became a travel escort – taking groups of Hongkongers on tours to places in China and in east and southeast Asia.

"I especially liked Thailand," says Amy. "The people were friendly, and if there was a problem, they would teach me how to solve it. I also liked the food, and shopping."

South Korea was another favourite of hers, again for food and shopping. She had fun travelling, which broadened her horizons as she learned more about other countries, such as the culture, the people, and customs.

"Also, working as a tour escort, you need to meet many different people from different backgrounds," says Amy. "Communication and presentation were my first challenges as a fresh graduate, and I had to learn how to handle emergencies. After I was familiar with the job, I really enjoyed travelling to different places and talking with many people. All the valuable experiences working there helped me in my role as a receptionist, as I need to communicate with different guests and face different situations."

Amy really enjoyed working as a tour escort early in her career. "Then the wonderful moment came," she recalls. "I met my husband, and then had my own family, which made me consider changing to a more stable working environment." She joined an NGO that focuses on fixing social sustainability issues in the toy industry supply chain and supporting the well-being of factory workers.

While this may seem relatively sedate compared to the travel industry, Amy didn't find her receptionist work boring. "I met many people, and there was a friendly environment," she says. "It was like a family, so colleagues cared if I wasn't feeling well, and celebrated birthdays." But after 11 years, Amy decided it was time for a change, and spotted an advert for a role with the Club.

"I was happy to meet the general manager, and found the Club is rather like a hotel, as I learned about with my food and beverage diploma," says Amy.

Amy had been with the Club for a month when she spoke to Horizons, and says her work so far involved helping members with problems, sometimes recovering lost items, fixing issues with membership cards and car park permits, and passing questions she couldn't handle to colleagues in the correct departments. "I like it," she says "The staff are nice, happy to help when I have a problem, and the members are very friendly."
